

Alvaro Augusto A. de Salles

He was born March, 6, 1946 in Bage, Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil. He earned a B.Sc. in Electrical Engineering: Escola de Engenharia, Universidade Federal do Rio Grande do Sul- UFRGS, Porto Alegre, Brazil in 1968 an
M.Sc. in Electrical Engineering: Pontificia Universidade Catolica do Rio de Janeiro- PUC/RJ, Rio de Janeiro in 1970 and a Ph.D. in Electrical Engineering: at the University of London, London, 1978-1982. He was an Associate Professor at the PUC/RJ from 1970-1991. Since 1991 to the present, he has been a Professor at UFRGS.
Main interests: Microwaves, Antennas, Propagation, Optical Communications, Microwave Semiconductor Devices, Optoelectronic Devices, Mobile Communications, and the Biological Effects of Non Ionizing Radiation. Dr. de Salles has published more than fifty papers in international conferences and magazines.